

Axion Star Detection with Gravitational Waves

Tuesday, 23 July 2024 16:30 (25)

I will discuss the detection of axion stars with gravitational waves, emitted from binary systems of extreme mass ratios. This kind of system is the ideal system for detecting very light subsolar axion stars, together with all other species of boson stars.

Primary author(s) : GUO, Huaike (University of Chinese Academy of Sciences)

Presenter(s) : GUO, Huaike (University of Chinese Academy of Sciences)